JND Legal Administration Expands Class Action and Mass Tort Sales Teams with New Senior Business Development Consultant

SEATTLE—JND Legal Administration today announced the expansion of its business development team, with the addition of David Hoffman, a new senior business development consultant. Hoffman will work alongside the sales team to harness JND Legal Administration’s comprehensive services to create customized solutions for clients’ most complicated class action and mass tort challenges.

“We are pleased to welcome David to our team of accomplished business development professionals,” said David Isaac, executive co-chairman and founder of JND Legal Administration. “With his experience across almost every facet of the legal industry, he has a unique understanding of how to tailor JND’s services to be the best solutions for our clients.”

With a background in class action administration, eDiscovery, deposition transcript management, demonstratives for trial, in-court trial technology and jury consulting, David Hoffman will not only assist clients with tailored class action and mass tort solutions, he will also guide them to uncover cost efficiencies across JND Legal Administration’s offerings.

Hoffman has spent more than 12 years in business development for the legal community, most recently acting as vice president of business development at Dahl Administration. He has also worked in various business development capacities at Magenic Technologies, Kroll Ontrack and TrialGraphix.

Hoffman holds a bachelor’s degree from the University of Wisconsin – Madison, and volunteers with the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation in his spare time.
